

Edited by Dipal Acharya

GOT IT MADE

Chloe Macintosh, co-founder of furniture website Made.com, on her super-sized Fulham living room

Photograph by Marcus Peel

My husband Alastair and I bought this Victorian property in 2011. It was originally two houses but we merged them into one to create a real party space, complete with a floating bar. The two-seater sofa 1 came from a collaboration I did with Allegra Hicks and is based on a 1920s design. I love this picture 2 by the society photographer Slim Aarons because it evokes the glamour of the 1960s – an era I wish I had grown up in. I've had the Zable 3 for 14 years now. I love that it uses natural wood to give it its structure and strength. It's such a versatile piece of furniture – I like to sit on it but my sons Felix and Elliott use it as a table. I picked up the red vases 4 from a wholesalers in Paris to use in photo shoots and they give my house a lovely pop of colour. This objet d'art 5 is special because I've always had a close relationship with octopuses from when I was growing up in Tunisia and Italy. Their anatomy is all about grabbing opportunities and I think that's a great metaphor and motivator for my life. Chloe is creative director of Made.com

GET THE LOOK

< BOOK
Slim Aarons: La Dolce Vita (Abrams, £55)

< DISH
Kelly Wearstler Lotus dish, £259, at giftlab.com

< VASE
Burnt orange rubber vase, £19.95, at dotmaison.com

< ROOM SPRAY
Fornasetti Sole di Capri room spray, £85, at selfridges.com

< LIGHT
Tom Dixon Void light, £310 (tomdixon.net)

HAIR AND MAKE-UP BY TERRI CAPON USING BUMBLE AND BUMBLE AND ESTÉE LAUDER COSMETICS